BURGESS' ORDER CREATES STIR

Yesterday for the first time the shoe shine parlors of Monessen were closed after 10 o'clock a. m. The action followed a written order by Burgess Reamer which was issued Saturday to all owners of such establishent. The edict was humbly submitted to on the part of the proprietors. There was some criticism directed at the Burgess and he was charged with discrimination, not only by proprietors of shoe shine shops but by some people who were disappointed in not getting touches put on their shoes. When interviewed on the matter Mr. Reamer stated that complaints had reached his office about crowds congregating about these places and noise and confusion resulting. The action on his part followed he said.

There has never been any attempt to enforce the blue laws in Monessen and it is not yet known what will result from this action. The only attempt that has ever been made to close places on Sunday was made by a committee of the board of trade. This was a mere request and was obeyed for a week or two but there was no official co-operation and the matter was permitted to drop. In so far as Sabbath observance goes there is very little of it in town. If you want your measure taken for a suit of clothes there will be no trouble experienced. The tailor shop is open if you want a load of groceries, a dish of ice cream, a cigar, an order of meat, a pair of shoes or anything most that is necessary for the household of the person it is on the market and on Sunday as well as any other day and there is no objection officially or otherwise and those who like a wide open town have no hesitancy in coming to Monessen on Sunday.

LOCAL CROATIANS HAVE A BIG SUNDAY

With a parade in which it is estimated there were almost 2,000 men in line, the Croatian Beneficial Society No. 194 N. C. S. of this place yesterday afternoon celebrated the tenth anniversary of the founding of their local branch. Five bands, 15 automobiles filled with the speakers, officers of the order and distinguished guests and the marchers after traversing the principal streets of the town proceeded to McMahan borough where a speakers stand had been erected and where also one dozen sheep were being roasted to be served at a supper given last evening.

Upon the arrival of the parade at the grounds the speakers were escorted to the reviewing stand. John Vlasich, president of the local order acted as master of ceremonies and introduced as the first speaker, Burgess Daniel Reamer who in a few well chosen words spoke to the assemblage on the value of their order. Michael Sabo was the next speaker, followed by several of the prominent officers from Pittsburgh and Cleveland, O., C. L. Schuck delivered the closing address outlining, in his talk a short history of the Croatian people and their society.

Delegations were present from all of the river valley towns and many from Pittsburgh. Local societies assisted in the ceremonies, there being a total of eleven different orders in line.

Minister Refuses Salary Raise

At the annual congregational meeting of the Trinity Lutheran church at Connellsville the congregation voted an increase of $300 per year in the salary of their pastor, Rev. E. B. Burgess making his salary $1,800 per year. Rev. Burgess was excused from the meeting when the vote was taken and on being told of the action of the congregation he declined to accept the increase. His reason was that the church congregation at the present time could not afford the additional expense. Rev. Burgess has been pastor of the church for seventeen years and to him great credit is due for its flourishing condition.

Scare Over Rabid Cow

The village of Bellwood is excited on account of many dogs and cows showing symptoms of rabies. A supposed mad dog went through the town several weeks ago and many animals are said to have been bitten by it. As a result a cow belonging to R. Clark McCaulley became affected yesterday and charged every person who went near it. The cow had to be shot. All dogs in the village are being watched closely.

Prominent Charleroi Man Dead

Frank Nelson of Charleroi died very unexpectdly Friday evening in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela, of heart trouble, aged 68 years. Deceased had been in the hospital a week and was thought to be improving very much. Friday evening he ate a good supper and was talking to a friend when he dropped over and was dead when picked up.

TWO MEN MEET AWFUL END IN RAILROAD WRECK

Passenger Train Takes Fire From Derailed Engine on P. R. R. Near Monongahela--Awful Scenes

Warren Newell, engineer on passenger train No. 142 on the Ellsworth branch of the Monongahela division of the P. R. R., aged 45 and John H. Crisswell, fireman, aged 28 years were instantly killed at 5 o'clock Saturday eveving while the train was rounding a curve, running forty miles an hour on the run up the road toward Marianna. Five or six others were more or less injured.

A mile north of Monongahela the train jumped the tracks, the engine overturning and the two first coaches crashing in upon it, the wreckage immediately took fire and the two unfortunate men were caught and pinioned under their engine and were burned and scalded to death

Eli Wherry, a farmer, who was working on a nearby hill heard the crash and through the dim haze cast by the setting sun could see what had occurred, and rushing to his home, sent out hasty calls to Marianna and Monongahela for aid, and by automobile physicians were soon on the ground doing what they could.

The body of Fireman Crisswell was gotten from under the engine within an hour and taken to Monongahela, the body being half burned. The body was prepared for burial, then sent to the home at Elrama, the funeral to be held Tuesday at 3 o'clock, in charge of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen of which he was a member. He leaves a wife and three children.

The body of Engineer Newell was recovered about 8 o'clock Saturday night, nothing being left but the skeleton, and is in such a condition that it cannot be viewed by friends.

Mrs. Newell was aboard the train at the time of the accident and went into a state of collapse, requiring the attention of doctors. The body taken to Monongahela and the funeral will occur at 2 o'clock Tuesday, attended by the Order of Eagles and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Engineer Newell was one of the most careful and trusted men in the P. R. R.'s employ, having been on the road twenty-five years. One of Monongahela's best citizens, a large property owner and had just erected a fine residence on Chess street, into which the family had just moved. At the time of the accident his only son, Albert, who was to graduate the coming Friday from the East Liberty Academy, Pittsburgh, was attending a class reception at the "Rittenhouse" when he received word of his father's death and was fortunate in catching and getting passage on the wreck train, arriving home in time to receive the charred remains.

Old and rotted rails are said to have been responsible for the wreck.

Mrs. Joseph Entertains

Mrs. Philip Joseph of 824 Donner avenue, entertained a number of guests at a charmingly arranged affair Friday evening, in honor of her sister, Miss Ella E. Stillman, of Bay City, Mich., who is her houseguest for the week. Dancing and cards were enjoyed, the prizes being won by Miss Stillman and Mr. C. Rizika. A dainty and elaborate course lunch was served by the hostess.

The out-of-town guests were, Miss Cecile Teitelbaum, Messrs. C. Rizika and Adolph Beigle of Charleroi, M. Schloss of Belle Vernon, and J. Fauble of Monongahela City.

Fire in Cleaning Shop

Shortly after noon today a small fire was discovered in the rear of the New York and Paris Cleaning shop on Donner avenue next to the Bijou theatre. The blaze was extinguished before much damage could be done. The fire ignited from an overheated stove standing on a box. The proprietor of the establishment was absent at the time and the doors had to be forced open to get at the seat of the trouble. Prompt work was all that saved the probable loss of several thousands of dollars worth of property.

WEBSTER MAN STILL AIRS FAMILY SKELETON

John Vogel Jr., of Webster brought suit against his wife for an attempt to do him physical violence. The case came up before Squire Watkins this morning. Young Vogel appeared before the magistrate with a pair of dark glasses over his eyes as evidence that carbolic acid had been used by the woman as a weapon of defence. John Vogel Sr., the father appeared in the wife's defence and waived a hearing and will defend the woman in court. The sympathy of the father is entirely with the son's family which is composed of a wife and four small children. Many times the law has been resorted too to end this chain of domestic troubles but of no avail. The wife has charged cruel treatment and non-support and claims her life with the man has been one of great domestic discord most of which she attributes to the habitual use of intoxicating drink. John Vogel Sr., who is one of the most esteemed citizens of Webster and who as father of the plaintiff will appear in court against his son, should the case go that far.

Good Personal Workers Meeting

One of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the local Personal Worker's League was that of yesterday afternoon. The Baptist church was crowded to hear the speakers who were from Pittsburgh. D. T. Jones, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Leader and president of the Crafton Personal Worker's League and Mr. Montgomery were the principal speakers and they pleased immensely with their entertaining and instructive talks.

Child Found in Clover Field

Wandering from his home in Star Junction, Joe Sepish aged 2 years and four months, son of Joe Sepish, Sr., a well known miner was found the next morning in a clover field about a mile from its home.

The baby was in a semi conscious condition and was hurried home. The child was placed in a tub of water and later attended by Dr. J. L. Cochran. According to the latest reports the babe will recover.

Jess Blair who had assisted in the all night hunt, found the youngster lying motionless in the clover field.

Miss Mabel Bycroft of Sharon is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Helmboldt of Donner avenue.

FLOWER MISSION SUNDAY

The Ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Monessen on Sunday observed Flower Mission Day in most commendable form. On Friday evening the membership met at the home of Mrs. G. M. Mitchell on McKee avenue and each one having taken flowers, the evening was passed in making boquets and arranging for the distribution.

On Saturday the work of taking a boquet to each sick person in the town—or each one that could be found—began, and as a result many a sick room was made brighter and sweeter.

On Sunday each pulpit in the town was decorated by a handsome boquet of roses, carnationes and greenery at the hands of the W. C. T. U. ladies and each of the newspaper offices were remembered.

Altogether the ladies made and distributed 30 boquets and 72 carnations, the latter, according to the Union's constitution constitute a boquet, the object being to show that the aesthetic or sentiment beautiful is not forgotten, though it be expressed through the agency of a mere white flower.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union was one among the first organizations started in Monessen at the time conditions were rough and progress along their line of work was hard. But by persistent effort and steady, hard work, the membership has grown and much good has been done, the organization comprising our best and most progressive women. The membership now is about thirty and indications are bright for a successful future.

Mission Flower Day is observed once a year—June 9th—and each year their work grows and becomes more pleasant and helpful.

The W. C. T. U. was first instituted in the Methodist Episcopal church with a few members, and it is gratifying to know of the good work being done.

At this season, when the lightning has begun to play and the thunder roll, many persons watch the sky in terror. They are not a generally scary class, indeed, person for person, they have the moral advantage of their thoughtless critics. They realize the dread power and menace of the darting bolt; they may be, perhaps through pre-natal influence, peculiarly pensitive to the vivid flash, the roar and the reverberation. There is an appalling horror in the grandeur of the electric display; some seek the attic or cellar, a darkened room and the seclusion of updrawn bedclothes or downdrawn curtains when steadier nerved souls rejoice in watching the most magnificent of spectacles—the celestial battle, common yet ever awful. They are not cowards. They simply quiver at the mere thought of the onrush of the electric storm; the first white gash in the sky, the portentous bellow of thunder, the rattling crash. They know that danger is present. Only a fool or ignoramus stands under a tree in a thunderstorm. We all know what lightening can do in its freakish moments to the unwatchful—snatch a bed from under one, burn up an umbrella in one's hand, kill six children and leave a seventh unhurt, even as was recently at the Pittsburgh Steel mill, struck and tore a hole in a steel bar, and only dazed the men carrying it.

Those who fear lightening are in fear of the most prodigious powe that confronts us; but they owe it to themselves and others to restrain their nervous terror. The thing to do is to cherish a frame of mind which realizes the unspeakable and solemn majesty of the flash—"as lightning does the will of God."

Large numbers of Pittsburgh women are to boycott meat for ten days with a view to forcing down prices. Some of the dealers look on the movement as something in the nature of a boycott, intended to restrain trade, and they talk of employing attorneys and going into court. But they will find they have nothing to stand on; because it is meat and not particular firms dealing in meat against which the movement is directed. For many years there have been organized movements against the use of liquors in this country, but the liquor people were never crazy enough to think that they could head off the movement by instituting legal proceedings against any man, set of men or organization. The subject is too broad, high and expansive. Opposition hurts the liquor interests just as badly as it does the meat barons, but it's no use to kick. They should take their medicine like little men.

If a thousand farmers in this community would each plant 500 apple trees, of good winter varieties, that would be half a million trees. Say they would bear, in five years, ten bushels to the tree, on the average. That would be five millions of bushels of apples. In that case commission merchants from all over the country would come in to buy the apples, and all the farmers would get good prices, and would not even be under the necessity of picking them. This is the orginal apple country. A few years ago the finest orchards of the country were found in this valley. Hundreds and hundreds of bushels of fine apples stored in cellars, barrels of fine cider made, and then the hogs were turned in to fatten on the rest.

The Oil City Blizzard says: "It is generally conceded that, in the event of Taft getting the nomination, he would not be elected, and Roosevelt might possibly make it." It is not well to concede anything in politics. We cannot always tell what sudden changes of sentiment will occur. The fashionable opinion of today may be obsolete next month. We still have faith that the nominee of the Republican convention, whoever he may be, will be elected. Our Democratic friends are so prone to blunder, you know.

To Whom It May Concern.

It was the new janitor in the apartment house where the Browns live who tacked up the following subtle notice inside the dumbwaiter. It was hand painted, every S being a capital and carefully turned backward: "You must not put nothing on the dum water you can put bottles on win I call for the gabbig I know who put it on."

Evil of Modern Life.

There is justification for the unrest of today, for multitudes of people spend their time in making a living and never having time to live.

The old town pump near Venneri's meat shop being out of commission, the water carrier's of the tin-plate mill are compelled to go through the alley at the rear of the Trust building to a pump in the rear of Joe Ody's barber shop in order to get good drinking water for the men at the mill.

Old 'Ninety-Seven'

Every day at just such an hour the old man entered the yard and walked slowly up and down among the engines, lingering longest around old "97," the huge, high-smoke-stacked locomotive, still on duty, but soon to be retired and devoted to a most inglorious end by means of a sham collision

A few of the blue-jeaned heroes around the depot objected more or less vigorously to the presence of the stranger, for it is a dangerous place for the nimble and quick-eyed, and the old man was half blind, and his ears were closed to even the shrill whistle of the trains. But some of the men remembered that the bent and feeble veteran was an old engineer, the oldest on the road, and "97" had been for years dearer to him than wife, or child, or friend.

Al Reece had kept his post until five years before, carefully concealing from the argus-eyed inspectors the fact of his partial blindness and infirmity. He had been an engineer for 50 years. It is a matter of history that he took the first train over the road, and "97" was his second love. The first he had gone over a bridge with, after feeling her heart beats quiver through his own breast and feeling her response to his every desire for 20 years.

It's a strange thing how a man gets to love a creature of iron and steel. There wasn't an engine along the division kept in better shape than "97." New styles were adopted, and all the ate inventions came in, but the "old girl" kept her place, and Al Reece kept her in it by his care.

The old-fashioned brass mountings were as bright as the day they were fitted on, and there wasn't a speck or a bit of dust about her anywhere.

But as time passed on the men began to look half pityingly at the old engineer and whisper that perhaps he would have to be retired before "97" was called in.

"Why, he can't see a foot in front of him," said one of the young fellows, "and it's a mighty risk to let a blind man run an engine!"

The same thought was moving the directors, for they could no longer ignore the fact of his condition But those who believe corporations have no souls might have learned much if they had witnessed the scene in the superintendent's office when old Al. Reece was pensioned and discharged.

The news had been broken to him by a man who looked at the bowed figure with manly tears and at the conclusion of the interview had taken the toil-worn hand, that had held the lever for so many years, in his own as a son might have done

The old engineer lifted his eyes, full of the piteous look the blind have, to his face.

"My trip's about over, anyway," he said, "an' I don't want to slow up at the terminal on old '97' But it's all right, sir, it's all right. I might have had some accident on account of my eyes an' have carried on the folks that wan't ready for the last station. But I don't believe I would. I really didn't need to see with her. She was eyes for me; and she had too much sense to go wrong.

"There's jest one favor I want to ask, sir: Have 'em let me though the gates whenever she's in from her trips. It'll be a comfort to us both, sir."

For a long time, the engine, under a strong, young hand, kept her regular runs. But she got fractious and cranky, and was finally used only in the yards. Old Al never missed his visit to her, though he grew feebler all the time, and seemed to mourn over her changed and neglected appearance.

One day as he leaned against her dull sides, patting her and talking of the days they had passed together, a young switchman, new in the yards and ignorant, stepped up to him.

"This is the last day for old '97,'" he called into the dull ears. "Some showmen have bought her, an' they're going to take her down on the siding an' run her off the upper bridge. Two trainloads comin' from Newton to see it And there'll be fireworks and a great sight."

The old man put his hand to his throat and leaned more heavily against the condemned engine. The young fellow continued:

"Better be here. It'll be a big show. She'll have steam up an' be sent wild. Starts at nine, if it's pretty dark."

He went whistling away to set the switch for the eight o'clock flyer, and the old engineer was left alone But a flush was on the furrowed face, and the dim eyes burned with a strange light.

"She's ready now," said the director an hour later to a group of trainmen, who had been stoking up the old engine, and hanging her sides with gayly covered banners. "This is her last trip, let her go!"

He threw the throttle wide, and as the engine bounded with a mighty leap toward the grade's incline leaped onto to ground. A great crowd gathered along the siding greeting the wild engine with a cheer, which speedily turned into a yell of horror; for as the panting thing madly rushed toward the bridge they saw a figure on the right-hand seat; and as the glow from the furnace lighted the cab with its red splendor it shone upon the fixed, white face of the old engineer, going to his death with "97."

Heed the Warning

Backache is the Signal that Kidney Diseases are Nigh.

Who doesn't dread the advanced stages of kidney trouble--Bright's disease, dropsy and gravel.

But today, throughout America, there are tens of thousands suffering the torments of hopeless agony just because they failed to heed the first signal, the certain warning of future misery—backache.

Backache means that your kidneys are weak.

Stop kidney disease at the start, that's the easiest way and Thompson's Barosma is the surest remedy. Craig's Drug Store sells it, and is willing to guarantee it to stop backache, sideache and sharp, shooting pains and to cure Bright's disease and any and all kidney, liver and bladder trouble, or money back.

It is a great maker of pure blood, and a builder of flesh, because it promptly cleans the kidneys and puts them in such perfect condition that the impurities are thoroughly strained from the blood as it passesthrough and are promptly eliminated with the urine. Thompson's Barosma is only 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

THE GOLDEN AGE AT HAND.

Scriptural Evidences That Are Astonishing—No One Can Afford to Be Without the Knowledge.

We do our friends a valuable service when we call their attention to the valuable book entitled, "THE TIME IS AT HAND," in which are given many Scriptural evidences to prove where we are on the stream of time.

"Men's hearts are failing them for fear" and many of the leading thinkers are proposing remedies to better conditions. The Scriptures assure us that man's extremity will be God's opportunity, and this book holds out an anchor to those who fear the wave of unrest now spreading over the world.

The honest heart confesses that it is at a loss for an explanation of transpiring events. While we refer to this as the BRAIN AGE and the Age of ENLIGHTENMENT, nevertheless many realize that we are fast approaching a crisis which is wrapped in darkness owing to the present world-wide social, religious and political unrest.

As though by instinct the whole creation, while it groans and travails in pain together, waits for, longs for and hopes for the DAY, calling it the "GOLDEN AGE"; yet men grope blindly because not aware of the great Jehovah's gracious purposes. And to his wondering creatures, looking at the length and breadth, the height and depth of the love of God, surpassing all expectation, He explains: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord; for as the heavens are higher than the earth so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." Isa. 55:8, 9.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Monessen Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Monessen citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Burns Wadsworth 270 Donner avenue, Monessen Pa., says: "I was in poor health for some time and suffered almost constantly from backache. I was subject to chills and dizzy spells. Knowing that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for kidney complaint, I procured a supply from the Hirsch Drug Co. Their use helped me from the first and before long I was cured. I am now enjoying good health and my kidneys do not bother me in the least." (From statement given Oct. 2, 1907.)

A PERMANENT CURE.

Mrs. Wadsworth was interviewed on Nov. 9, 1909 and she said: "The cure effected by Doan's Kidney Pills in my case has been permanent. I have recommended this remedy to my friends on several occasions and all who have used it, speak highly of the results received.

To restore a normal healthy condition to the female system, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy of the world.

Children's Day exercises were held last evening in the First Presbyterian church by the members of the Sunday School department. An interesting program had been arranged and everything went off in an excellent manner. A large audience was in attendance. The church was very tastefully decorated with sprigs of trees and foliage.

A woman was burned seriously and her child burned to death when gasoline exploded in their home, in Windber, last night. The woman was cleaning carpets with gasoline and it was ignited by fire in a stove. Lloyd Edward Gahagan, 3 years old, is dead and Mrs. Hattie Gahagan, 35 years old, is burned about the body and her condition is serious.

BEER AGENTS' ARREST FOR ALLEGED WRONGS

A test case is to be made in reference as to the legal or permissible manner of distributing beer through the country districts by agents, and two men were arrested Saturday at Manown, this county, on charges of violation made by special detectives sent out from Pittsburgh to look up the exact status of things along this line, as frequent complaints had been made recently as to the means by which beer was furnished to the different mining towns in this section. It seems that up to a short time ago the Westmoreland Brewing Co., located between Monongahela and Suterville, had sent out to its agents envelopes containing blank orders, and the orders were taken, the money and order placed in the envelope and sent in to the brewery, and this passed as complying, with the law's requirements and nothing was said. However, from some cause, the system was changed and one Mark Barlotetto, an agent, began taking the orders straight, accepting the cash and forwarding order and cash to the brewery, but minus the envelope.

The goods, in this particular case were shipped to a man named Sappo, who delivered it and collected 10 cents on each package for his service.

The detectives were right on their job Saturday and taking in the situation and seeing just how the thing was being operated, threw a lasso around both Barlotto and Sappo and took them into Allegheny county where a preliminary hearing was given and the men released on $1,000 bail each for court trial. This is the first case where actual evidence has been obtained, witnesses, etc., and it will be made a test. The agents said they were acting on instruction from the brewery management, and it is further said that an official of the brewery has stated that if the agents had followed the old mail order system there would have been no trouble.

Tom Underwood Has New Motorcycle

Tom Underwood has purchased a handsome new Indian motorcycle from R. E. Rodgers the district agent at Monongahela. The machine is certainly a dandy. Walter Bumbaugh has also purchased a machine of the same make from Mr. Rodgers. A number of trips are being contemplated this summer by the owners of the machines.

PIGS

CAN BE RAISED CHEAPER ON

OUR SMALL FARMS

In the SACRAMENTO VALLEY

than in any other known section of the United States. This fact is due to the large quantities of alfalfa that can be grown here and the even temperature, which makes it possible for pigs to forage in the field every month in the year.

Packing houses in Sacramento and San Francisco will contract for all the hogs you can raise—the market is always short on hogs, and good prices prevail.

Hog raising is one of the most profitable industries in the Sacramento Valley, owing to the long growing season, the mild winters and the bountiful yield of alfalfa and grain.

A good stand of alfalfa, a year old, will support from 12 to 25 hogs on an acre throughout the year. Good sows will average 5 to 6 pigs each litter and will bear twice a year. In from 10 to 12 months' time, a hog raised on alfalfa alone should weigh from 200 to 250 pounds. Hogs meet with a ready sale at from 5 to 8 cents a pound. A little figuring will show you the possibilities of 20 to 40 acres of alfalfa one year old stocked with hogs. Stock can be raised from birth to maturity "without a shiver."

You can purchase one of these small farms on very liberal terms—

$15 DOWN THAT'S ALL $11 A YEAR THAT'S EASY

By making this small cash payment any man who is willing to work will win, every month in the year he can produce from this fertile soil some article of food that can be converted into immediate cash.

The market is waiting for your products—no matter what it may be—your success depends upon your own efforts, with no limit to your possibilities.

There is a charm to the life of a Sacramento Valley farmer; work is a pleasure out in the open air He is king of his own little kingdom In acres he knows that

"Twenty's Plenty — Forty's a Fortune"

The Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company will sell you from 20 to 80 acres of their great project on very easy terms. $15 an acre as a first payment and the balance spread over ten years. Ten years to make good. Could you ask for a better opportunity to meet success face to face?
